

34 Brilliant Ways to Repurpose Your Wine Bottles

As a vase:

A wine bottle can be filled with water and used as a vase to hold fresh flowers or other decorative items.

As a rolling pin:

A wine bottle can be used as a makeshift rolling pin in a pinch. Just be sure to thoroughly clean and dry the bottle first.

As a soap dispenser:

Fill the bottle with hand or dish soap for the kitchen or the bathroom. An opaque bottle is best. Add a pump dispenser to the top after bottle is thoroughly cleaned.

As a bird feeder:

A wine bottle can be transformed into a bird feeder by attaching a feeder kit to the bottom of the bottle and hanging it from a tree.

As rainbow lanterns:

Paint wine bottles a sheer color to make attractive candle stands for patio railings

As a meat tenderizer:

In a pinch, a wine bottle can make a good kitchen tool to. Use the bottle to tenderize a steak or flatten your chicken cutlets.

As a platter for cheese and crackers:

Wine bottle can be flattened in a kiln and used as a platter.

As a nightlight:

Place lights with battery in a wine bottle for a golden glow to send you off to sweet dreams.

Play Spin the Bottle:

Here's the adult version of spin the bottle with an empty wine bottle. Have fun!

To make smashed potatoes:

Use the bottom of the bottle to smash the parboiled potatoes and then bake to crispy

As a decorative item:

You can have so much fun decorating your used wine bottles. They can become a showpiece.

As a kale massager:

Kale is so much more palatable once is massaged and pounded. The bottom of a wine bottle is the perfect utensil.

Message in a bottle:

Push a note inside the bottle and send it on its way across the ocean

As a garden border:

Wine bottles can be inserted upside down into the ground to create a colorful and unique garden border.

As a backyard fence:

Replace a boring railing with a colorful wine bottles

As a container for homemade vinegar:

Add a pump to a cleaned, empty wine bottle to use on your salads. Infuse with herbs and give as gifts

As a lamp:

A wine bottle can be transformed into a lamp by inserting a lamp kit into the bottle and adding a lampshade.

As outdoor sidewalk lights:

Forget the solar. Fill with fairy lights and enjoy a twinkling way to light your path

As an outdoor chandelier:

Make a statement with this one of a kind wine bottle chandelier

As a candle holder:

Wine bottles make great candle holders. Simply clean out the bottle, insert a candle into the neck, and light it up for a cozy and romantic ambiance.

As party favors:

Wrap twine around the bottle and decorate with whatever you desire for inexpensive party favors

As a zen garden for your desk:

Fill a flattened wine bottle with sand and your favorite succulents for a delightful decoration.

As a bottle for watering plants:

You can get into hard to water spaces that a watering pitcher wouldn't allow.

As Wind Chimes:

Use a glass saw to score a line around the wine bottle. Dip the bottle into a bowl of hot water and then a bowl of iced water to break it along the scored line.

As a musical instrument:

Empty wine bottles can be used as makeshift musical instruments, such as a percussion instrument by tapping them with drumsticks.

As barbells for a workout:

A wine bottle can be used as a weight for your workout, you can fill it with different levels of water or sand for different weights.

As tiki torches:

Great for outdoor parties. They set a mood for your tropical themed parties.

As a water bottle:

A clean and empty wine bottle can be used as a reusable water bottle. This is especially useful for outdoor activities like hiking or camping

As a weapon:

Wine bottles can be filled with sand and used as a weapon, if needed.

As a placeholder in boots:

Place a wine bottle inside your boots to keep them in good shape for your next wear.

Infuse oil with peppers:

Add long peppers to a bottle of vinegar and you have hot sauce as a great gift for your friends

As a trick or treat decoration:

Paint bottles Halloween colors and you're ready to decorate and fill with candy corn

As gift wrapping :

Empty wine bottles can be used as a unique and eco-friendly gift wrapping option. Simply place your gift inside the bottle and tie a ribbon around the neck.

As a placecard on a banquet table

Get everyone in the mood to drink wine at your party with the table decor used as tablecards

www.scottharveywines.com

www.facebook.com/ScottHarveyWine

www.twitter.com/scottharveywine

www.instagram.com/scottharveywine

